ALIMENTS OF OUR AGE AND BELIEF

That dealer in attractive medical generalities, Dr. Woods Hutchinson, states that in comparison with thirty years ago "we live almost twice as long, die more than a third less frequently, are sick only one-fifth as often, and have three times as much money to spend."

Dr. Hutchinson would have to scratch around a little to prove the last item in his list, if he means by it that the buying power of the average man is three times what it was in 1886. His other assertions are partially substantiated by the current reports of the census bureau, which show that the mortality rate from tuberculosis, pneumonia and typhoid—three of the principal causes of disease and death—has fallen rapidly even during the past decade. In 1914 only 146.8; in 1904 180.5 in each 100,000 died of pneumonia, in 1914 127; in 1900, 35.9 in each 100,000 died of typhoid, in 1914 only 15.4. There has also been a decrease in deaths from accident and in certain minor diseases.

But it happens that there has been a steady increase, although not sufficient to counterbalance the decrease in the rates just mentioned, in the number of deaths from heart disease, cancer, apoplexy and diabetes which are also among the leading causes of death. To a certain extent we have swapped the chance of dying from another set.

For America the increases in the diseases just mentioned are significant of an ailment which science cannot cure. The individual American either does not know how to live or is not allowed to love as he ought. Diseases which depend on circumstances mostly external to the individual can be conquered. Cities are improving their sanitary conditions, a new generation is learning that fresh air is the very reverse of fatal, and industrial employers have discovered that human beings although abundant are too expensive to throw recklessly away as was done in the piping days of the seventies and eighties. But heart disease, cancer, apoplexy, and diabetes, all of which are probably dependent less on passive environment than on the individual's personal habits of living, are increasing. The individual either cannot or will not control his own machinery; the conquering disease of his age are a consequence.

When we think of fear disease and apoplexy our thoughts wing away to the great business centers. When we think of the pace that kills we think of the business man, burdened with care, rushed with details, perpetually menaced by neurasthenia. But the bulk of us necessarily work with our hands, and it must be a mong this great class that the deaths from heart disease and the other ailments are increasing in number. They are less exposed to infection, but they are more exposed to work which wears the mouth and breaks them down. The pace set for the ordinary man is getting harder; the efficiency system, and all that they cannot, probably signify, despite the plausible arguments of their proponents, that the strain on nerve and muscle is growing tense. The human machine is being used for more than it is worth, and it protests.

The whole trend is toward the disciplining of the average man. That is what is meant by the body of opinion which calls for larger units, for closer organization, for increased efficiency, for "practical" education. But the average man will not endure more than a certain degree of this mechanization without a temperamental suffering of which bodily disease is often a mere symptom. This sacrifice of humanity to production is hardly worth while. It might be better to produce less and distribute that quantity more evenly, to have less efficiency and more happiness, to taste life like a friendly meal, not bolt it like a quick lunch.

ALL THE NEWS IN THE NEWS

Seeing the World
LOS ANGELES, January 19.— Fear is felt here for the safety of twenty-nine persons at Camp Baldy, a resort in the mountains forty miles northwest of Los Angeles. C. T.
McClulloch, proprietor of the hotel,
McClulloch, proprietor of the hotel, his wife, Forest Ranger Fritz and twenty-five guests at the hotel may have been lost, or at least are without provisions, officials say. No word has been heard from them since the cloudburst which flooded the camp yesterday. Although one telephone wire remains intact, no answer could be obtained from the hotel today, and it is believed the place has been abandoned.

SINCE, Jan. 18.—The world's largest gas well, owned by J. M. Guffey of Pittsburg, Pa., is on fire, according to advices received here for King's Building.

GRIMSBY, January 19.—The British fishing vessels Comarrest and Sunshine have been torpedoed, according to advices received here today.

UKIAH, January 19.—The body of Carter W. Rohrbough, an attorney of Covelo, was found in the field yesterday, his death this morning, the right breast badly shattered from a shotgun wound. His own shotgun was found a quarter of a mile away under a pile of brush.

Authorities investigating the case say that Rohrbough was murdered.
Rohrbough left Covelo about the first of the month to go to his ranch, twenty-five miles away, on a hunting trip. He intended to be absent for only a few days. When he did not return his friends became worried and searching parties were organized, resulting in finding the body this morning.

The condition of the body indicated that Rohrbough had been dead for almost two weeks. The nature of the wound by which he died, the authorities say, was such that he could not have walked at all after receiving it. To have traversed a quarter of a mile from the spot where his gun was found under a pile of brush to where the body lay would have been, they believe, an impossibility.

Accordingly they are proceeding with their investigation on the theory that he was murdered.
Carter W. Rohrbough, the dead man, was a brother of John S.
Rohrbough, the present cattle king of Round valley. He was at one time associated with the late George E. White.

OAKLAND, January 19.—The third of the series of "pop" symphony concerts at the Oakland municipal auditorium will be given next Sunday afternoon at 3 o'clock.
These concerts have proved to be the most popular musical feature given in Oakland for a long time and from all indications, because of the demand shown for them, they will be given throughout the winter. Paul Steindorff, the eminent orchestra conductor, who is in charge of the concerts, has planned to give ten concerts, and in addition to the regular orchestral program each week a famous opera will be given.
The offering for next Sunday will be Verdi's opera, "Rigoletto."

Co-operating with Steindorff is a large citizens' auxiliary committee, composed of prominent business and professional men. Many civic organizations, women's clubs and musical societies have endorsed the concerts because of the opportunity they give to music lovers to hear the best music at an extremely low price of admission. Because of the great demand for seats a block of 500 have been reserved. A feature of this Sunday's concert will be the many box parties given by society people of the eastbay cities. Society is taking a deep interest in the series of concerts.
During the week the arena of the auditorium where the concerts are being held will be redecorated and the music lovers will be in an environment in keeping with the splendid musical programs. Madame Luisa Bresciani, Miss Lucy Van Der Mark, Signor E. Puccini and Ralph Straw, with singing the leading roles in "Rigoletto," they are eminent singers and have already been taken to the hearts of the eastbay music lovers. The offering for Sunday, January 23, will not be introduced until the votes now being deposited in a ballot box placed in the auditorium have been counted. The music lovers will name the opera which will be the one receiving the highest number of votes.

GLADIATORS AWAIT TAP OF GONG AT THE RICHMOND FANS ASSURED FIRST CLASS BOUTS

Doc Morris, who sometimes masquerades under the title of William, Bill or Willie, is feeling quite puffed up over the card he has prepared for the edification of local boxing fans for tomorrow night at the Maple hall arena. And friends let us assure you that friend Doc or William, or Bill or Willie has plenty of reason to feel satisfied.

The old boy has arranged as attractive a card as has ever been placed on the four round boards about these parts in many moons. Doc has gone the limit in dispensing the long green and the boys who appear tomorrow night will dial up action and plenty of it.

The bout which will attract more than ordinary interest from a local standpoint is that between Young Butch and Frank Brazil. Butch and Brazil are as chummy as a couple of rival wildcats, a fact which all fans who witnessed their last appearance at the Eighth street pavilion will admit.

Butch's opinion of Brazil is as laudable as a "blanket blank, blinkey biff boob who couldn't punch his way out of a paper bag." And then that little argument scheduled between Joe Rose and Joe Perry. Rose and Perry dished up one of the fastest four round bouts ever dished up in a local arena. Again we call upon those who witnessed the previous bout to back up our remarks.

At the gong of the last card, Rose and Perry were a couple of very badly battered up athletes and we venture the opinion that the bout tomorrow night will never last the four rounds.

The main event will find Doc O'Keefe and Jack Smith, a couple of lightweights trading aways. O'Keefe has yet to taste the bitter dregs of defeat and while friend Smith has dropped a couple of bouts, he promises to more than make up for these performances by exciting Mr. O'Keefe to the land of the dreams via a Kayo ticket.

The other events have been matched as follows: Charles Lloyd vs. Jack Morode; Jimmie Kirkwood vs. Jack Vales and Johnny Rivers vs. Kid Goldie.

The advance sale of seats indicates that the house will be packed to its capacity when the young gladiators step up to entertain.

All of the boys are in active training on the fans can figure on a real wide awake evening. The bouts will start promptly at 8:30.

PUT TIES ON S. P. TRACKS

FRESNO, January 19.—Admitting that he had placed railroad ties three different times on the Southern Pacific tracks near Dos Palos merely to "see what was going to happen," Glen Linesay Harvey, aged 24 years, was taken into custody yesterday morning at Dos Palos by special agents of the Southern Pacific company and in the afternoon repeated his confession in the presence of Sheriff Thorwaldson and Deputy Sheriff Johnson. Harvey was booked at the county jail on a charge of attempting to wreck a train. This is a felony charge. William Harvey, the prisoner's father, lives at Dos Palos, and is chief engineer for the Standard Oil company at its pumping station on the West Side. Harvey was employed as a laborer for the Standard Oil company and was with a crowd of laborers employed by the side of the railroad tracks when arrested yesterday morning. Last night at the county jail Harvey repeated his confession to Sheriff Thorwaldson and a newspaper reporter. "Men do lots of funny things and can't account for them," said Harvey. "I don't know just why I placed the ties on the tracks. I did it once and then it created so much excitement that I did it again. I didn't think it might kill people. I just wanted to see a scene."

The arrest of Harvey and his confession brings to an end an investigation that has been made by special agents of the Southern Pacific company for the past two months. The three attempts to wreck the trains by placing railroad ties on the tracks, the one "attempted to dynamite the 'Owl' and the failure to capture the guilty party resulted in the best special agents of the railroad company being sent to Dos Palos. For more than six weeks the town and country has been thick with the railroad detectives. Many were disguised as hoboes and mingled with the "Knights of the Road." Again ties were piled on the railroad tracks and again the culprit made his disappearance. Special agents patrolled the tracks and a gasoline motor car traveled ahead of the passenger trains in that vicinity, but still the man was able to pile ties on the railroad tracks. Harvey's written confession was made yesterday in the presence of Loftus and Molnerney, special agents and E. F. Diamond, a conductor of the company, who happened to be in the office at the time.

His signed confession follows: Fresno, Cal., Jan. 18, 1916. To Whom It May Concern: My name is Glenn Linesay Harvey. I am 24 years old. I reside at South Dos Palos and am employed by the Standard Oil company as a laborer this last time since January 7. Before that I worked for Miller & Lux at the rice camp between Dos Palos and Oxnard. About three days being put on the track near the camp, I will say that I am the man that placed them there. On November 17 I placed three ties on the track. On December 11 I placed one tie, which was struck by a freight train. The other ties were hit by passenger trains. I waited there until the ties got hit by the train, as I wanted to see what was going to happen, but I did not interfere. I have been designated as a "wreck" man. I will be shown in love with its planning and they see it pictured at the Richmond theater this evening where it is being shown for the last time. The drama is cast with Marguerite Clark in the dual role of Prince and Pauper.

Charles Chaplin in cartoons is even more amusing than in real life. In another effort to get on the rise, a "Gloria" for tonight. Dances and thrills is offered in the Vitaphone players two cel acting of "A Woman's Part."

tend to ditch them. I was going to work on these occasions when I put the ties on the track. I was working the nights at that time. I was sober at the time I put the ties on the tracks, and had my proper sense but just did it to be mean and I have no grievance against the Southern Pacific whatever. I have read about things being placed on the tracks and that's what started me doing it. I did not put the dynamite on the track to wreck the Owl near Los Banos and don't know anything about it. The only thing that I done was to put the ties on the track between Dos Palos and Oxnard. I don't deny that part of it. I done it and I am sorry for it as it is a dangerous thing. There was not one with me at any time that I was putting the ties on the track and I never told any body about it. At the time the ties were put on the track by me I was working in the rice camp for Miller & Lux, and when the camp broke up I went to work for the Standard Oil company. The above statement is true.

ERD FORSYTH AT REGENT

THEATRE HIT IN

FAN TAN VAUDEVILLE

The Regent theatre was packed to capacity last night and the large and appreciative audience was kept in a high pitch of laughter from the start to finish. Mr. Forsyth surely made good his promise to afford more fun than a barrel of monkeys.

A scream a second and then some. You will laugh more than you have in many a day. Lovers of a rug of fun should not miss an opportunity of witness "Fan Tan Vaudeville." Mr. Forsyth on his last visit to the city of Richmond last July played as Charlie Chaplin in the Comedy store at both the Regent and Point theatres and won the hearts of lovers of unique novelties and forcing more fun than a barrel of monkeys. He made the greatest hit of any vaudeville attraction ever in the city of Richmond. The Comedy store proved an excellent drawing card at the time, but Mr. Forsyth returns with a much stronger attraction, "Fan Tan" vaudeville. He has a riot of fun and during the performance he distributes many dollars worth of goods, including live stock, among the audience. Don't miss this treat in the line of amusement "Fan Tan" vaudeville. Dollar worth of fun for the popular price of 5 and 10 cents. No advance during Mr. Forsyth's engagement.
